About The Author

My name is Mahi. I am 7 years old. I like dolls, barbies and art. I have a twin brother named Shivam. He is 2 minutes older than I am. My Mom is a stay-at-home Mom. My Dad is an Engineer. We live in Livermore, California and I was born in Berkeley, California. I want to be an artist when I grow up because I love painting, art and crafts and also because it is fun!

Acknowledgment

I dedicate my book to my Daddy because he is the best Dad in the entire universe and I also dedicate it to my Mommy because she is great to me.

Introduction

I made this book because I like reading and I want to be an artist and a creative writer. I want the reader to have a fun experience of reading a book written by a young girl. The message in my book is to be compassionate and help animals and people in need. I created my story with blocks and paintings. Please enjoy!

The Three Little Birds

Once upon a time there were three little birds named Lillie, Rianna, and Maya.

They were friends but they had no family.

They lived on the roof of a super nice family's house.

The family had 3 kids and two mothers. They always took a bowl of worms and put it where the birds always ate their food. When the 3 birds were sleeping, the 3 kids climbed their jungle gyms, to reach up to the roof, and took pictures of the cute birds.

When the 3 birds were sleeping, the 3 kids climbed their jungle gyms, to reach up to the roof, and took pictures of the cute birds. After that day, the three kids were spinning on their spinning chairs enjoying the pictures that they took of the birds.

One day there was another bird, a mama bird. She was looking for her lost child. When she asked the three birds, she realized that one of them, Maya, was her child. The mama bird remembered that the other two birds were her child's friends. So, she took care of them all.

One day the nice family took the 4 birds inside. It was a safe place in a humungus bird room with other birds where they all lived happily ever after.
